

Brave Meteor

What You Need To Know

Washington University in St. Louis
Webster University

R. Scott Granneman

© 2013 R. Scott Granneman
Last updated 20131113

You are free to use this work, with certain restrictions.
For full licensing information, please see the last slide/page.

Images for Headers

Headers

You want to use text for SEO
AND
You want to use graphics to look nice

Normally this is not a good idea. Normally you don't want to use graphics for text, because it is a maintenance nightmare. But this is a special occasion.

Text

```
<h1>Brave Meteor</h1>
```

Graphic

Logo courtesy of Cody Vogt, based on the Daring Fireball logo by John Gruber

CSS

```
body { background-color: #4A525A;
}

h1 { width: 480px;
    height: 112px;
    text-indent: -9999px;
    background: url(/images/logo.png)
#4A525A no-repeat;
}
```

Columns Without Tables

By JOHANN HOLLOWES

ARCHIVE
MEMBERSHIP PROJECTS
CONTACT COLOPHON
RSS FEED
TWITTER
SPONSORSHIP

Intriguing Bloomberg Report on Stephen Elop and Microsoft *

Peter Burrows and Dina Bass, reporting for Bloomberg:

Stephen Elop, a candidate to replace Steve Ballmer as Microsoft Corp.'s chief executive officer, would consider breaking with decades of tradition by focusing the company's strategy around making the popular Office software programs like Word, Excel and PowerPoint available on a broad variety of smartphones and tablets, including those made by Apple Inc. and Google Inc., said three people with knowledge of his thinking.

Elop would probably move away from Microsoft's strategy of using these programs to drive demand for its flagship Windows operating system on personal computers and mobile devices, said the people, who asked not to be identified because the 49-year-old executive hasn't finalized or publicly discussed his analysis of the business. Most of Microsoft's software has been tied to running on Windows.

Whether that's actually a good plan for Microsoft, I don't find all that interesting. What I do find interesting is how Bloomberg landed this story. Either (a) this is Elop's way of tacitly leaking his "Here's how I would run the company if I get the CEO job" plan publicly, or (b) three of Elop's confidants have betrayed his trust. I'm going to go with (a). Not sure why he'd do that, though. If I were on Microsoft's board, trying to decide on Ballmer's successor, I'd look unkindly upon a candidate who leaked like this.

Also fun:

Doug Dawson, a spokesman for Nokia, declined to comment or to grant an interview with Elop.

"We appreciate Bloomberg's foray into fiction and look forward to future episodes," said Frank Shaw, a spokesman for Microsoft.

I really do enjoy Frank Shaw.

By JOHANN HOLLOWES

ARCHIVE
MEMBERSHIP PROJECTS
CONTACT COLOPHON
RSS FEED
TWITTER
SPONSORSHIP

aside

Intriguing Bloomberg Report on Stephen Elop and Microsoft *

Peter Burrows and Dina Bass, reporting for Bloomberg:

Stephen Elop, a candidate to replace Steve Ballmer as Microsoft Corp.'s chief executive officer, would consider breaking with decades of tradition by focusing the company's strategy around making the popular Office software programs like Word, Excel and PowerPoint available on a broad variety of smartphones and tablets, including those made by Apple Inc. and Google Inc., said three people with knowledge of his thinking.

Elop would probably move away from Microsoft's strategy of using these programs to drive demand for its flagship Windows operating system on personal computers and mobile devices, said the people, who asked not to be identified because the 49-year-old executive hasn't

Most `id="container"`

Whether that's actually a good plan for Microsoft, I don't find all that interesting. What I do find interesting is how Bloomberg landed this story. Either (a) this is Elop's way of tacitly leaking his "Here's how I would run the company if I get the CEO job" plan publicly, or (b) three of Elop's confidants have betrayed his trust. I'm going to go with (a). Not sure why he'd do that, though. If I were on Microsoft's board, trying to decide on Ballmer's successor, I'd look unkindly upon a candidate who leaked like this.

Also fun:

Doug Dawson, a spokesman for Nokia, declined to comment or to grant an interview with Elop.

"We appreciate Bloomberg's foray into fiction and look forward to future episodes," said Frank Shaw, a spokesman for Microsoft.

I really do enjoy Frank Shaw.

HTML

```
<aside>
  Text of aside goes here
</aside>

  Content goes here

```

CSS

```
#container {
  width: 40em;
  margin-left: 30em;
}

aside { float: left;
  width: 25em;
  margin-right: 5em;
}
```

BRAVE METEOR

By JOHANN HOLLOWES

- ARCHIVE
- MEMBERSHIP
- PROJECTS
- CONTACT
- COLOPHON
- RSS FEED
- TWITTER
- SPONSORSHIP

```
#container {
  width: 40em;
  margin-left: 30em;
}
```

Elop would probably move away from Microsoft's strategy of using these programs to drive demand for its flagship Windows operating system on personal computers and mobile devices, said the people, who asked not to be identified because the 49-year-old executive hasn't finalized or publicly discussed his analysis of the business. Most of Microsoft's software has been tied to running on Windows.

Whether that's actually a good plan for Microsoft, I don't find all that is how Bloomberg landed this story, asking his "Here's how I would run the bidly, or (b) three of Elop's confidants go with (a). Not sure why he'd do that, , trying to decide on Ballmer's successor, o leaked like this.

ia, declined to comment or to ito fiction and look forward to spokesman for Microsoft.

```
aside { float: left;
  width: 25em;
  margin-right: 5em;
}
```

Thank you!

scott@granneman.com

www.granneman.com

ChainSawOnATireSwing.com

@scottgranneman

Brave Meteor

What You Need To Know

Washington University in St. Louis
Webster University

R. Scott Granneman

© 2013 R. Scott Granneman
Last updated 20131113

You are free to use this work, with certain restrictions.
For full licensing information, please see the last slide/page.

Licensing of this work

This work is licensed under the Creative Commons Attribution-ShareAlike 3.0 Unported License.

To view a copy of this license, visit http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-sa/3.0/deed.en\_US

In addition to the rights and restrictions common to all Creative Commons licenses, the Attribution-ShareAlike License features the following key conditions:

Attribution. The licensor permits others to copy, distribute, display, and perform the work. In return, licensees must give the original author credit:

Scott Granneman • www.granneman.com • scott@granneman.com

Share Alike. The licensor permits others to distribute derivative works under a license identical to the one that governs the licensor's work.

Questions? Email scott@granneman.com