Image Formats

Lossy & Lossless

Lossy

Discard invisible information

Offers variable quality levels
(compression)

As quality ↓,
compression ↑,
& file size ↓

Examples: GIF, JPEG

Lossless

↓ file size without losing quality

Not as small as a lossy file

Use when:

- ✓ Archival
- ✓ Image quality valued above file size

Examples: TIFF, RAW, PNG

Raster & Vector

Web

GIF

Graphics Interchange Format

Displays 256 colors
chosen from millions

Best for:

- ✓ Logos
- ✓ Illustrations
- ✓ Solid areas of color

Bad for:

- ✓ Photos
- ✓ Faces
- ✓ Things with more than 256 colors

- # Supports
- ✓ Animation
 - ✓ Transparency

JPEG

Joint Photographic Experts Group

Millions of colors
Multiple levels of compression

Best for:

- ✓ Photos
- ✓ Faces

Bad for:

- ✓ Logos
- ✓ Continuous colors

PNG

Portable Network Graphics

Millions of colors
Better compression
& more transparency options
than GIF
Larger than JPEG
with negligible gains in quality

Good for:

- ✓ Logos
- ✓ Illustrations
- ✓ Text
- ✓ Solid areas of color

Bad for:

- ✓ Simple photos

Image with photography & line art?

- ✓ Large but sharp PNG
- ✓ Small but blurry JPEG

Supports
✓ Transparency

http://search.creativecommons.org

The screenshot shows the search.creativecommons.org website. At the top, there is a green header with the 'cc Search by Creative Commons' logo on the left. A search bar with the placeholder text 'Enter search query' and a 'Go' button is in the center. To the right of the search bar, there are two checkboxes: 'use for commercial purposes' and 'modify, adapt, or build upon', both of which are checked. Below the search bar, there is a navigation menu with links for 'English (US)', 'Help', 'Translate', 'Contact', 'Support CC', 'Policies', 'Privacy', and 'Terms of Use'. Below the navigation menu, there is a row of search engine logos: Google (Web), Google (Image), Yahoo!, flickr, blip.tv, jamendo, and spiritpress. The main content area has a heading 'Enter a Search Query Above To Get Started'. Below this heading, there is a grey box containing a disclaimer: 'Please note that search.creativecommons.org is not a search engine, but rather offers convenient access to search services provided by other independent organizations. CC has no control over the results that are returned. Do not assume that the results displayed in this search portal are under a CC license. You should always verify that the work is actually under a CC license by following the link. Since there is no registration to use a CC license, CC has no way to determine what has and hasn't been placed under the terms of a CC license. If you are in doubt you should contact the copyright holder directly, or try to contact the site where you found the content.' Below the disclaimer, there is a heading 'About Creative Commons'. To the left of this heading is a green square with the Creative Commons logo (a white circle containing the letters 'cc'). To the right of the heading, there are two grey boxes containing text: 'Creative Commons is a nonprofit corporation dedicated to making it easier for people to share and build upon the work of others, consistent with the rules of copyright.' and 'We provide free licenses and other legal tools to mark creative work with the freedom the creator wants it to carry, so others can share, remix, use commercially, or any combination thereof.'

http://wiki.creativecommons.org/ Content_Directories

Welcome to the Content Directories

The following is a list of organizations and projects powered with Creative Commons licenses. Since Creative Commons does not maintain a database of content and does not store content, we would like CC-community members to help build a directory of projects to help spread the word about CC--hence the CC Content Directories wiki! Please help us fill it out!

What is an appropriate entry for Content Directories?

Many of the listings in the Content Directories are organizations that provide services using Creative Commons licenses. For example, Flickr.com is a photo-sharing website that allows users to license their photos under Creative Commons licenses. Flickr hosts millions of CC-licensed photos on its site.

Not certain that something should be added to this list? Add it to Talk:Content Directories. For short lists of notable works, see books and films. For other notable uses, see the case studies project.

How to add an entry to Content Directories

To get started, simply add the name of the organization or project in the box below. Then, you'll be able to use an easy form to enter details to add to the Content Directories listings. For some screenshots about how to do this, go here. If you haven't done so already, you'll need to sign up for an account on this wiki. Users must be logged in to post to the wiki.

The screenshot shows the Flickr Creative Commons page. At the top, the browser address bar displays the URL. The Flickr logo and navigation menu are visible. The main content area is titled "Creative Commons" and includes a brief introduction. Below this, there are three sections for different license types, each with a row of representative photos and a link to see more photos. On the right side, there is a "Briefly..." section with icons and text explaining the meaning of Attribution, Noncommercial, and No Derivative Works licenses, along with a "Share Alike" section.

The main content area is divided into several sections:

- popular searches: A list of search terms including "top 1000", "latest photos", "animals", "architecture", "blackandwhite", "computer", "food", "fractal", "girl", "nature", "paris", "people", "square", "textures", "water", and "woman".
- popular tags: A list of tags including "2005", "2006", "art", "australia", "beach", "blue", "california", "cool", "flower", "green", "japan", "liberystockphoto", "music", "nature", "nyc", "purple", "red", "sky", "USA", and "yellow".
- featured searches: A section with the search term "pencil eraser" and a small image of a pencil eraser.
- current collection: A section with the text "click to edit collection name" and a small image of a collection.
- photo blog: A section with the title "photo blog" and a small image of a colorful staircase.
- welcome to everystockphoto.com: A large section with a background image of a city street. It contains the text: "We are a search engine for free photos. These come from many sources and are license-specific. You can view a photo's license by clicking on the license icon, below and left of photos. Membership is free, without advertising, and allows you to rate, tag, collect and comment on photos." Below this text are links for "Sign Up" and "Learn more", and a status message: "Now searching: 4,853,387 free photos".
- featured website: A section for "Vibrant Software" with the tagline "developing web applications" and a "like everystockphoto!" button.

At the bottom of the page, there is a "show collection" button and a note: "Please login to save your collection."

On the left side, there is a navigation menu with the following items: Home, Terms of Use, Frequently Asked Questions, Browse By: Satellite, Sensor, Collections, Country, U.S. State, and GCMD Topic.

The main content area is divided into three columns:

- FAVORITES: Contains a grid of image thumbnails. The first row shows "The Blue Marble" (a full Earth view) and "Pacific Typhoons" (a view of typhoons over the Pacific). The second row shows "Earth's City Lights" (a night view of Earth with city lights) and "Deforestation in Mato Grosso, Brazil" (a satellite view of a deforested area). The third row shows "Magnetospheric Pressure" (a green map of Earth's magnetosphere) and "Greece" (a satellite view of Greece). The fourth row shows "SST Climatology on a Globe" (a global map of sea surface temperature) and "Fires in Northern Washington" (a satellite view of fires in Washington). The fifth row shows a thumbnail for "Solar Activity" and another for "Solar Energetic Particles".
- NEWEST: Contains a grid of image thumbnails, including "Pacific Typhoons" and "Deforestation in Mato Grosso, Brazil".

GRIN: Great Images in NASA

<http://grin.hq.nasa.gov>

The screenshot shows the GRIN website interface, which is presented as a film strip. The top edge of the film strip has sprocket holes and frame numbers: 677A, E, 5-400, 3A, 3B, 24, 4. The main content area is white and contains the following elements:

- GRIN GREAT IMAGES IN NASA logo in the top left.
- A horizontal banner with four images: a person in a field, a large industrial structure, a woman looking at a large sheet, and a colorful nebula.
- A navigation menu on the left with buttons: Browse by Subject, Browse by Center, Search by Keywords, Frequent Questions, How to Use GRIN, and Copyright Information.
- Welcome to the Great Images in NASA library of images.
- A paragraph: "GRIN is a collection of over a thousand images of significant historical interest scanned at high-resolution in several sizes. This collection is intended for the media, publishers, and the general public looking for high-quality photographs. Please note that downloading these image files may take some time, although searching and browsing should be relatively quick."
- A paragraph: "We suggest checking the How to Use GRIN section first, to speed your search for photos. Return home (to this page) at anytime by clicking on the GRIN title in the upper left-hand corner."
- The NASA logo and "National Aeronautics and Space Administration" text on the left.
- A section titled "Other relevant NASA Web sites:" with a list:
 - NASA Headquarters
 - NASA History Office
 - NASA Image eXchange (NIX)
 - NASA Multimedia Gallery
 - NASA Human Spaceflight
- Text: "Updated June 01, 2000"
- A list of contacts:
 - History Questions: NASA History Office
 - Responsible NASA Official: Steve Garber
 - Author: Michael Hahn. Editor: Dwayne A. Day
 - Curator & Technical Questions: Erin Newtham
 - NASA's Privacy Statement

The National Archives <http://www.archives.gov>

The screenshot shows the homepage of the National Archives website. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for "Archives.gov Home", "Subject Index", "Contact Us", "FAQs", and "Español". A search bar is located on the right side of the navigation bar.

The main content area is divided into several sections:

- THE NATIONAL ARCHIVES ARCHIVES.GOV: A large blue banner with the text "Democracy Starts Here."
- WHAT WE DO: A list of services including "About the National Archives", "Locations/Visit Us", "Calendar of Events", "National Archives News", and "Support the Archives".
- EXPLORE & INTERACT: A list of interactive features including "National Archives Experience", "America's Historical Documents", "Online Exhibits", and "Presidential Libraries".
- RESEARCH & ORDER: A list of research and ordering options including "Start Your Research", "Obtain Copies", "Order Online", "Publications", and "Forms".
- FEDERAL RECORDS: A list of federal records including "Legislative Branch" and "Executive Branch".

The central section features a "NEWS AND EVENTS" header. Below it, there is a Facebook link: "Become a Facebook Fan of the National Archives. Visit the news and events page, and the research page." Below this is a news item: "The National Archives has launched the NARATIONS blog focusing on online public access to its records. Learn more." To the right of the news items is a "Most Requested" section with a list of popular records: "Military Service Records", "Declaration of Independence", "Constitution of the United States", "World War II Photos", "Genealogy/Getting Started", and "Recovering from Disaster". Below this is a "Status update" on the loss of a Clinton Administration hard drive, with a reward of up to $50,000 for its return.

At the bottom of the news section, there are two buttons: "See All National Archives News" and "See Our Calendar of Events".

The right side of the page features a "ARCHIVES.GOV FOR..." section with a list of user groups: "General Public", "Genealogists/Family Historians", "Veterans and their Families", "Educators and Students", "Researchers", "Records Managers", "Preservation and Archives Professionals", "Information Security Specialists", "Federal Employees", "Members of Congress", and "Press/Journalists".

The National Archives

The screenshot displays the National Archives website's 'America's Historical Documents' page. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for '#Archives.gov/this', 'Subject Index', 'Contact Us', 'FAQs', and 'Español', along with a search bar. The main header features the National Archives logo and the text 'America's Historical Documents'. Below this, there are social media icons for Facebook, Email, and Bookmark/Share. The main content area is titled 'America's Historical Documents' and includes a brief introduction: 'The National Archives preserves and provides access to the records of the Federal Government. Here is a sample of these records, from our most celebrated milestones to little-known surprises.' A grid of document thumbnails follows, each with a caption: 'Declaration of Independence', 'Articles of Confederation', 'The Constitution', 'Bill of Rights', 'Louisiana Purchase', 'List of Lewis's Purchases', 'District of Columbia Emancipation', and 'Emancipation Proclamation'. On the right side, there are several promotional boxes: 'Photos, Documents & More in our Online Exhibits', 'See Today's Document: Document for September 21st: MIG-15 from a North Korean Defector', 'More Documents & Exhibits: The Charters of Freedom', 'Our Documents: 100 Milestone Documents of American History', and 'Teaching with Documents: Lesson plans and resources based on primary documents from the National Archives.'

The screenshot shows the National Archives website's 'Online Exhibits' page. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for 'Archives.gov Home', 'Subject Index', 'Contact Us', 'FAQs', and 'Español'. A search bar is located on the right side of this bar. Below the navigation bar is a banner image with the text 'Online Exhibits'. The main content area is titled 'Online Exhibits' and features a list of exhibits. On the left side, there is a sidebar with various categories and links. The exhibits listed include:

- 1906 San Francisco Earthquake and Fire: Documents about the earthquake aftermath, from our archives located in San Francisco.
- 1948: Year of Turmoil & Triumph: Links to research, activities, and photographs related to 1948. From the Harry S. Truman Library and Museum.
- American Originals: The Original Exhibit: Original documents are the most precious artifacts of our national and cultural history and they form the record of our nation, written in the hand of the people who shaped it. Some of America's most interesting and famous documents are presented here.
- American Originals II: Documents from American history including George Washington's expense book, a Civil War telegram from Abraham Lincoln to General Grant, and John F. Kennedy speech notes from Berlin.
- American Originals: Traveling Exhibit: Records of famous, pivotal, ground-breaking, and even odd moments in our history.
- American Women

The sidebar on the left contains the following sections:

- ONLINE EXHIBITS

Rick Prelinger and The Internet Archive hereby offer these public domain films from Prelinger Archives to all for free downloading and reuse.

Welcome to Prelinger Archives

View over 2,000 films from the Prelinger Archives!

Prelinger Archives was founded in 1983 by Rick Prelinger in New York City. Over the next twenty years, it grew into a collection of over 60,000 "ephemeral" (advertising, educational, industrial, and amateur) films. In 2002, the film collection was acquired by the Library of Congress, Motion Picture, Broadcasting and Recorded Sound Division. Prelinger Archives remains in existence, holding approximately 4,000 titles on videotape and a smaller collection of film materials acquired subsequent to the Library of Congress transaction. Its goal remains to collect, preserve, and facilitate access to films of historic significance that haven't been collected elsewhere. Included are films produced by and for many hundreds of important US corporations, nonprofit organizations, trade associations, community and interest groups, and educational institutions. Getty Images represents the collection for stock footage sale, and over 2,000 key titles (soon to be 2,500) are available here. As a whole, the collection currently contains over 10% of the total production of ephemeral films between 1927 and 1987, and it may be the most complete and varied collection in existence of films from these poorly preserved genres.

RIGHTS: Please read the text in the "Rights" box on the left of this page before contacting us with questions.

STOCK FOOTAGE: Information on licensing stock footage through Getty Images, our exclusive representative, is here.

The Field Guide to Sponsored Films by Rick Prelinger was published by the National Film Preservation Foundation in January 2007. It describes 452 historically or culturally significant motion pictures commissioned by businesses, charities, advocacy groups, and state or local government units between 1897 and 1980. The annotated filmography features repository information for some 350 titles as well as links to works viewable online. Also included are an introductory essay and name and subject indexes. The book is recommended for all interested in the history of advertising, industrial and sponsored films.
